Red Sox Fall On Gallia For Enough Runs to Win

Griffs Unable to Hit George Foster in Pinches-Final Count Is 5 to 2.

ACOSTA IN SPOTLIGHT

By WILLIAM PEET.

Pitcher George Foster, of the Red Sox who was roughly handled here last Sat urday by the Griffmen, was sent back at them again yesterday, and Scrappy Bill Carrigan's "hunch" that Foster would gain sweet revenge proved correct. The Red Sox won, 5 to ... Griff opposed Foster with Bert Gallia, and Bert only looked good in spots. Bunched hits in the third cut down the Nationals' lead and more thunder in the sixth and seventh yielded enough runs to put the ball game far beyond Washing-

Danny Moeller's injury gave Merito Acosta, the little Cuban, a chance to show what he could do, and he demonstrated to the entire satisfaction of the fans that he was perfectly able to hold his head above water in the big swim.

Acosta raced back in the sixth and caught Speaker's long drive, that was labeled three bases. He walked to the plate four times, connected for a pair of singles, was hit by a pitched ball, and drew a walk, all of which bespeaks a per dimmering for the want of base hits. Three double plays enlivened the mati-nee, Alva Williams putting himself at the business end of a two-ply killer in the third which brought him round afte round of applause.

Tris Speaker and Scott also played good ball afield and robbed our noble athletes of possible hits.

The Nationals appropriated the first inning for scoring purposes, putting over two runs by the best known method of clean hitting, removing all chances for arguments. Acosta rapped a healthy single to right field and scored when Foster's drive went for three bases, the AGAIN BY PHILLIES ball taking a nasty hop just as Lewis set himself to receive it. Milan shot a single to center, bringing in Foster, but Pat Moran's Pennant Hopes Capture Rippy Williams hit into a double play long fly to Speaker. New York, April 20 .- The Phillies

Clark Griffith takes his ball club to New York tonight, where it will open the season against the Yankees or the Polo Grounds, playing four games before returning to the Capital.

As the Nationals today find themselves tied with New York for fourth place, and there can only be a difference either way of one game when the clubs meet tomorrow, there should be a good crowd on hand to see these eams play. From what the Yanks showed here in the Capital, the Griffmen should have little trouble winning three games out of the four in Gotham, but the local club must show a little improvement in hitting if this is to be accomplished.

Jonnson, Gallia, Boehling, Ayers, and Shaw probably will be called upon to do the pitching for the local boys when the Yanks are encountered. Today's game, the final of the Red
